

To Whom It May Concern,

I am pleased to write this letter of recommendation for Afnane Amrani, whom I had the privilege of working with during the 2021–2022 term at AIESEC in Morocco. During that period, I served as President of AIESEC in Tangier, and Afnane was a member of the Executive Board, leading the Outgoing Global Talent function.

From the very beginning, Afnane distinguished herself through her ambition, professionalism, and strategic mindset. She consistently demonstrated the ability to analyze complex situations, identify practical solutions, and execute them with remarkable attention to detail. Her strong sense of ownership and commitment to excellence made her one of the organization's key leaders.

What impressed me most was her ability to balance performance with people development. While she successfully drove her department toward its objectives, she also invested significant effort in coaching and empowering her team, creating an environment where members could grow both personally and professionally. She understood that sustainable results come from developing strong leaders, and she embodied this philosophy throughout her tenure.

Afnane is also an exceptional communicator. Whether collaborating with internal stakeholders, managing her team, or representing the organization externally, she consistently demonstrated professionalism, clarity, and emotional intelligence. Her ability to build trust, manage relationships, and navigate challenges with maturity made her highly respected by colleagues and partners alike.

Beyond her technical and managerial capabilities, Afnane is a proactive, solution-oriented leader who approaches challenges with resilience and determination. She combines strategic thinking with strong execution, making her someone who can quickly adapt to new environments while maintaining high standards of quality and accountability.

I am confident that Afnane will be a valuable asset to any organization fortunate enough to have her. She possesses the leadership, work ethic, and interpersonal skills needed to thrive in demanding professional environments, and I recommend her without reservation.

Should you require any additional information regarding Afnane's qualifications or my experience working with her, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

Ikrame Dahdouh Guebas

Former Local Committee President (2021–2022)
AIESEC in Tangier

ikrame.dahdouhguebas@gmail.com

+212661400410

